

ROOSEVELT SWEEPS NEW JERSEY TOO

FORMER PRESIDENT BELIEVED TO HAVE WON ENTIRE DELI-GATION.

Estimates Indicate His Plurality in State Will Be 12,000—Fight
Against Wilson Results in Large Number of Uninstructed Delegates.

Newark, N. J., May 28.—One of the most sweeping victories Theodore Roosevelt has won in the primaries since he began his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination was recorded yesterday by the Republican voters of New Jersey. Indications based on incomplete returns are that Roosevelt carried every congressional district in the state as well as the state at large, and that all the 28 delegates New Jersey will send to Chicago will be Roosevelt men.

Governor Wilson won his own state against a strong opposition headed by his political enemies within the state and appears to have 21 of the 28 delegates, including the delegates at large. Col. Roosevelt's indicated plurality on the preferential vote is 10,000.

Senator LaFollette made a showing in every county, but his vote so far as counted indicated that he would not get more than two per cent of the total.

Theodore Roosevelt's victory in the New Jersey primary election is conceded by the leaders of the state Taft organization. Shortly after midnight E. W. Gray, secretary of the Taft Business Men's League, said that Col. Roosevelt probably had won the four delegates-at-large, and also the ten district delegates from the counties of Essex and Hudson. Indications at 1 a. m. based on scattered returns from all parts of the state, were that Col. Roosevelt would carry three or four of the other districts and capture at least 22 of the 28 delegates.

At that time President Taft appeared to be sure of only one of twelve districts with a fighting chance of two more.

Indications at 1 a. m. were that Wilson delegates had been elected for the state at large and in all but two of the districts. Any delegates not pledged to Governor Wilson will go to the convention uninstructed.

Roosevelt's plurality in the state is estimated at 12,000.

Col. Roosevelt's lead was apparent as soon as the returns began to come in, but was past midnight, three hours after the polls closed, before the Taft leaders conceded defeat.

The president made a good showing in the city of Newark and this encouraged the managers of the Taft organization to send to the white house a few cheerful messages early in the evening. The surrounding cities and towns, however, went to Roosevelt and when results began to come in from the more sparsely settled districts in the southern end of the state, the president's defeat became increasingly evident.

NO PROVISION FOR BATTLESHIPS

House Cuts Naval Appropriation Bill—Eight Hour Amendment Carried.

Washington, May 28.—The house today passed the naval appropriation bill without providing for any new battleships. In the final hours of consideration, however, a radical amendment was adopted by which government contracts in the future must be filled under the eight-hour law. The proviso applies not alone to naval contracts but to all work that hereafter may be done for the government. The bill carries approximately $149,000,000.

The adoption of the eight-hour amendment followed a lengthy debate, in which Representative Buchanan of Illinois, Democrat, former labor leader, took a prominent part. The amendment was in the form of the eight hour bill passed by the house last December, but upon which the senate thus far has refused to act. The principal fight of the day raged around the proposal to provide for two battleships. This was defeated by a vote of 140 to 106.

MORE TROOPS FOR TEXAS.
Washington, May 28.—Another regiment, the second cavalry, now returning from the Philippines, is to be sent to Fort Bliss, Texas, though it is declared that no warlike significance attaches to the order. The regiment is due at San Francisco, June 15, and was originally destined for Fort Meade, S. D., and Fort Snelling, Minn. At Fort Bliss, the Second will relieve the headquarters and first squadron Fourth cavalry, which joins its regiment at Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

THANKS EXPRESSED.

Congress Takes Formal Action of Gratitude to Carpathia.
Washington, May 28.—A formal thanks of congress to the steamer Carpathia's officers and crew for the rescue of the Titanic survivors were expressed in a joint resolution which passed today by the senate. The resolution, the first of three measures introduced by Senator Smith of Michigan following his speech in the senate today and the presentation of his report for the congressional investigation of the Titanic disaster. The two other measures provide for the safety of the passengers aboard sea going and lake vessels. Both were referred to the commerce committee.

SENSATION NOW IN PROSPECT

DEVELOPMENTS NOTED IN SUIT AGAINST SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANIES.

Wickersham Says Disclosures Will Be Sensational—High Railroad Officials Said to Have Combined in Effort to Secure Oil Lands Worth
Millions for a Pittance.

Washington, May 28.—In a public statement Attorney General Wickersham today declared that the government's suit against the Southern Pacific companies for the recovery of valuable oil lands in Southern California has developed "sensational and startling disclosures."

Testimony by witnesses subpoenaed by the government, he says, presents a remarkable picture of criminal conspiracy high among the Southern Pacific officials to acquire from the United States an agricultural grant oil lands valued at $15,000,000.

The government lawyers are confident the disclosures made in the testimony already taken, will result in the restoration to the public domain of a vast tract of the most valuable oil lands in the state of California.

SEAGARS' LETTER CAUSED TROUBLE

Counsel for D. L. & W. Wrote Missive Which Opened Up Archibald
Case.

Washington, May 28.—John L. Seagar, counsel for the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railway, before the house judiciary committee today admitted authorship of a letter to the inter-state commerce commissioner, Meyer, which "got Judge Archibald into trouble," and said he was sorry he had written it. In this letter Mr. Seagar stated that he knew on "reliable authority" that the Marion Coal company of Scranton had lost its property and would not continue a suit against the railroad company, pending before the commission.

It was following this letter that the United States court at Scranton rendered a judgment against the coal company in another suit. Mr. Seagar explained that he had written the letter at the orders of his superior, William S. Jenney, general counsel of the railroad. The witness also said that he had also seen two letters from Judge Archibald, bearing on the coal company's affairs at Mr. Jenney's office.

BAPTISTS OPPOSE SECTARIAN GARB

Ask President to Enforce Order With Reference to Teachers in Indian Schools.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 28.—President Taft and Secretary Fisher of the interior department are urged to restore and enforce Commissioner Valentine's order No. 601, which forbids sectarian instruction and the use of sectarian garb and insignia by teachers in government schools for the Indians in resolutions adopted today by the Northern Baptist convention.

That copies of these resolutions be sent to aforesaid mentioned officials."

Rev. Carter S. Jones of Oklahoma, Okla., was elected president of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society to night.

Haggard, Boston; treasurer, Ernest S. Butler, Boston.

The following board of managers was elected:

FRANKLIN BEGINS STORY TO JURY

STAR WITNESS AGAINST DAR-ROW ON THE STAND.

Quotes Darrow as Saying "It's About Time to Get Busy With the Jury"
—Defense Will Seek to Show District Attorney Concealed Conspiracy.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 28.—Bert H. Franklin, former chief detective for the McNamara defense, and now star witness for the prosecution in the trial of Clarence S. Darrow for alleged jury bribery, took the stand late today and related what he declared to be the manner in which Darrow, then chief counsel for the McNamara brothers and himself attempted to bribe jurors in the trial of James B. McNamara.

"It's about time to get busy with the jury," Franklin quoted Darrow as saying to him on October 5, 1911. The next day he said, Darrow gave him a check for $1,000 to be used in buying the vote of a juror of Robert M. Bain, who later became the first sworn juror in the trial. He said that he had known Bain for twenty years and that he had arranged for the corruption of the juror.

Franklin followed Geo. N. Lockwood on the witness stand. A grilling cross-examination of Lockwood by Chief Counsel Rogers of the defense failed to shake the witness' original story. It brought out, however, and accentuated certain facts, which the defense claimed would go far toward establishing an alleged conspiracy to involve Darrow in the bribery negotiations between Lockwood and Franklin declared by the defense to have been directed by the district attorney. Franklin in his testimony repeated the story told him some months ago about how as he alleges he had a talk with Mrs. Bain and that he told her he would give Mr. Bain $500 down and $1,000 after he had cast his vote for McNamara's acquittal and that Mrs. Bain expressed the opinion her husband might be induced to accept. The story was not completed when court adjourned.

SEPARATE CONVENTIONS

Taft Supporters Refuse to Participate in Texas State Meeting—Two Sets of Delegates.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 28.—President Taft's supporters in Texas, today, refused to participate in the state convention of the house bill reducing the duties on iron and steel, rejecting by 12 to 60 the measure presented by Senator Cummins of Iowa, as a substitute for the house Democratic bill.

Democrats and regular Republicans joined in opposition to the measure and all the affirmative votes except those of Senator Jones, Nelson, Page and Townsend regular Republicans were cast by opposites, as follows:

Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Clapp, Cummins, Gronna, Poindexter and Works.

Before the vote, regular Republicans had practically confessed their intention of defeating the Cummins amendment and then permitting the Democrats to pass their bill.

DECLARED CONSTITUTIONAL.
Attorney Stead Has Mileage Appropriation Bill O. K.
Springfield, Ill., May 28.—Attorney General Stead today gave to Governor Deneen an opinion that the mileage appropriation bill for the third special session of the General assembly is in the proper form and is constitutional. It is now up to the governor whether the measure shall become a law, either with his signature or without it. So far Governor Deneen has not signed the bill and declines to state what action he will take.

The mileage bill for the third session, which is meeting concurrently with session No. 2, has been termed by some as a salary "grab" and its passage was stubbornly fought by a certain element in both houses. L. O'Neill Browne, former minority leader, led the fight for the passage of the bill and it was largely because of the attitude assumed by Browne and his small following which forced the house and senate to pass the bill. With barely a constitutional majority of members present, Browne held the balance of power and by opposing important legislation compelled many members to vote for the mileage bill against their wishes. Repeatedly Browne has declared he would fight all pending legislation unless the mileage bill was passed. A ten day recess was taken last week in order that the house would know when the members re-assemble next Tuesday, whether Governor Deneen has signed the bill.

Substitute for House Bill Reducing

Washington, May 28.—The senate today entered upon the last stage of the consideration of the house bill reducing the duties on iron and steel, rejecting by 12 to 60 the measure presented by Senator Cummins of Iowa, as a substitute for the house Democratic bill.

Democrats and regular Republicans joined in opposition to the measure and all the affirmative votes except those of Senator Jones, Nelson, Page and Townsend regular Republicans were cast by opposites, as follows:

KNOX WANTS COFFEE SUIT WITHDRAWN

SECRETARY THINKS COMPLICATED SITUATION WITH BRAZIL MIGHT FOLLOW.

Disagreement Between Knox and Wickersham as to Policy is Known
—President Has Not Yet Ordered
Court Proceedings Stopped.

Washington, May 28. Secretary of State Knox has recommended to President Taft that the civil action brought against the "coffee trust" be withdrawn because of possible complications with Brazil. This disagreement in the cabinet between the secretary of state and Attorney General Wickersham as to the propriety of attacking the Brazilian valorization scheme in American courts became known today.

President Taft, however, has not yet accepted the suggestion of the secretary of state and the attorney general continues his preparations to pursue the matter in the courts.

As the issue centers about a foreign state, Secretary Knox regards the problem as one for settlement by diplomatic means, and not for treatment in the courts of the United States. He represented to the president that international courtesy should direct the American government to retract its steps and dismiss the court proceedings.

The attitude of Mr. Knox was known to Senator DeGann, the Brazilian ambassador, who he cautiously criticized the course of the department of justice at the Pan-American congress in New York last night. In all probability, it is said, no official notice will be taken of the ambassador's remarks.

Neither the attitude of the state department nor the denial today by the New York circuit court of the government's motion for a temporary injunction restraining any disposition of the coffee stored in New York is deterring the department of justice, where it is declared the case will be pushed to conclusion.

URGE LORIMER TO FIX RETURN DATE

Senators Kern and Lea Seek to Know
Illinoisan's Intentions—Dr. Slay-maker Says Lorimer Too Weak to Travel.

Washington, May 28.—Senators Kern and Lea of the anti-Lorimer contingent of the senate today telegraphed to Senator Lorimer asking him to state specifically when he would be here so that an early vote to dispose of his election case could be arranged.

"There is no disposition," they wired, "to fix a date for a vote on your case that will prevent you from having an opportunity to speak on it. Your telegrams indicate that you can and expect to be here within a short time. Will you kindly indicate a time that you can be here so that an agreement to vote at an early date can be reached?"

This telegram was in reply to a message from Senator Lorimer to Senator Kern saying that he hoped to be able to return to Washington not later than the 30th inst. and did not feel able to proceed north and requesting that his case not be called up in the meantime.

Senator Dillingham, chairman of the investigating committee, received a telegram today from Dr. Slaymaker, Mr. Lorimer's physician, stating that the senator was still very weak.

"He is improving and the condition of his heart is much better," the doctor's message said, "but hardly such as to justify me in advising him to make the trip as yet. I am very fearful that over-exertion may be followed by the most serious results."

M. E. CONFERENCE NEARS CLOSE

Many Reports Adopted at Rapid Meeting—One Word Changed in Amusement Paragraph.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—With more than 100 reports to be adopted before the adjournment of the general conference at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, that body today began a rapid meeting which did away with many measures.

Most of the reports had appeared in the church papers and a word of explanation by the chairman were adopted unanimously by the conference. As a tribute to Dr. J. M. Buckley, for thirty-two years editor of the Christian Advocate, at New York, who voluntarily retired at this session of the general conference, the delegates this afternoon purchased a table built by the Boys' Industrial School of Venice, Italy, and used at this session and presented it to him. Resolutions also were adopted expressing the appreciation of the church for the work done by Dr. Buckley.

The conference has eliminated the word "un-Christian" for the heading of the "amusement" paragraph No. 269 of the church discipline. The paragraph itself was unchanged but the amendments upon which the church frowned now are designated as "imprudent conduct."

WILL CHALLENGE TWO DELE- GATES.

San Francisco, May 28.—It was announced at the Taft headquarters here today that challenge would be made before the Republican national convention at Chicago of Roosevelt's claim of two of the twenty-six California votes in the national convention. The two delegates elected in the fourth district (San Francisco) and the contest will be based on a convention rule that requires delegates from a district to be elected by Republicans of that district. The California law, however, provides that all delegates shall be elected by the party electors of the state at large.

PEACE MEASURES WERE JUSTIFIED

PROTECTION FOR FOREIGN IN-TERESTS IN CUBA WAS NEED-ED.

Precautions Have no Doubt Prevented
Loss of Property—Threatening
Attitude of the Rebels Continues.

Havana, May 28.—Since the beginning of the insurrection of Oriente news from the front never was so meagre as today. Information reaching Havana was confined to indications of increased boldness on the part of insurgents as evidenced by their successful attacks on the village of Ramon Delas Yaguas, and Yerba Guineas, where they defeated the rural guard and captured a sergeant, together with arms and ammunition.

Rebel movements seem to indicate a desire to continue guerrilla tactics rather than close combat. The government forces apparently intend to await reinforcements before launching a general forward movement.

Seven hundred volunteers have organized for field service. The gunboat Baer sailed this evening for Oriente loaded with ammunition, cannon, machine guns and rifles.

All the provinces except Oriente, according to the latest reports are free from signs of disturbances.

Washington, May 28.—The precautions taken to protect American and other foreign interests in Cuba have been amply justified in the judgment of the state department based upon the reports that have been received from many sources, and especially owners of plantations and sugar mills and iron mines and other industries. Up to the present it is declared there has been no destruction of valuable property, but on the contrary the situation at Guantanamo is improving.

One fact indicating the state department's action in asking for naval protection of American interests is the threatening attitude of the rebels. According to information apparently reliable, that comes to the department, the insurgents are becoming desperate and Estenose, their leader, declares that if President Gomez does not secure the repeal of the Morúa law prohibiting the organization of a strictly negro party in Cuba, he and the other leaders will demand contributions from the railroads and from the owners of estates, in order to prolong the conflict, and will destroy the property of those who refuse.

The state department hopes that immediate and energetic measures on the part of the Cuban government will suffice to quell the revolt and prevent further depredations.

The celebrity with which two whole divisions of the Atlantic fleet responded to the call for a naval demonstration in the southern waters has not attracted the attention it deserves in the opinion of the naval officers here. As a matter of fact, their departure was probably the speediest and most effective bit of naval mobilization ever carried out on so large a scale in this or any other country. As illustrating the efficiency of modern scientific methods of warfare, it is pointed out after counsel by Secretary Meyer with his aides, the whole movement was directed by two officers in the navy department, Admiral Vreeland and Captain Porter by long distance telephone and the use of only one or two wireless messages.

ROCKEFELLER ON WITNESS STAND

FORMER HEAD OF STANDARD
ASKED ABOUT WATERS-PIERCE
CASE.

Entered Indignant Denial When Asked
About Effort to "Expose Court Decision"—Refuses to Answer Questions Briefly.

New York, May 28.—John D. Rockefeller, retired head of the discredited Standard Oil company, was placed on the witness stand here today to tell whether he believed the company had been really dissolved under the decree of the United States supreme court. The aged oil millionaire could not be induced at all times to give direct answers to questions, but made indignant denial of all suggestions that there had been any effort to evade the decree of the court.

Mr. Rockefeller appeared as a witness in the action brought nominally by the state of Missouri to compel the inspectors of the election of stockholders of the Waters-Pierce Oil company at St. Louis last February to vote the proxies of the Rockefeller and other standard oil interests, which had named Standard Oil men as officers of the company. The inspectors refused on the ground that to do so would violate dissolution decree of the supreme court of the United States and of the decision of the Missouri supreme court ousting the Standard Oil company of Indiana, from the former state.

The Waters-Pierce interests alleged in fighting to prevent the Standard Oil representatives from gaining control of the company that the manner in which the Standard Oil interests had observed the decree of the United States court was "arbitrary."

The aged oil magnate and the "richest man in the world," was subjected to a grilling by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Waters-Pierce interests, that caused the witness to pound his fists on the table to emphasize his indignant denials of pointed questions as to whether the decree of the court had been in fact carried out.

"Did you ever have a discussion with John D. Archibald as to how these subsidiaries should be 'cut loose and still held tight,'" queried the Waters-Pierce attorney.

"There never was any thought of cutting loose and holding tight," Mr. Rockefeller almost shouted. "I happen to know about that."

Mr. Rockefeller had previously made the statement that he had never read the United States supreme decree, although he knew about it in "general way."

Mr. Untermyer had the utmost difficulty throughout the examination to get him to answer questions by "yes" or "no."

Mr. Rockefeller persisted in giving his own answers in his own way, and could be induced to change his tactics only after Commissioner Walter Jacobs, appointed to take the testimony, had instructed him to give a direct answer. Finding the effort hopeless the examining attorney remarked that if the witness were asked if the sun was shining outside, Mr. Rockefeller would not give a direct answer. He would say instead that the "moon was about to rise."

Both Untermyer and Commissioner Jacobs found frequent occasion to object to the "prompting" of George W. Murray, Mr. Rockefeller's personal counsel. Mr. Untermyer declaring that he was influencing the witnesses' answers. Mr. Untermyer drove hard at Mr. Rockefeller to get him to explain the plan adopted for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company and how it was that the old company named the directors and officers of the segregated constituent companies. After declaring that he had given the re-organization of the new companies no attention, and that he had turned his Waters-Pierce holdings over to "the gentlemen in charge of the re-organization" because "they knew best what to do," Mr. Rockefeller, who had been talking in a roundabout way, was asked the question as to whether he had discussed a plan to "cut loose and hold tight."

It was here that he brought his indignant denial and added to this denial:

"The matter of these re-organizations is a patent at Our Savior's hospital."

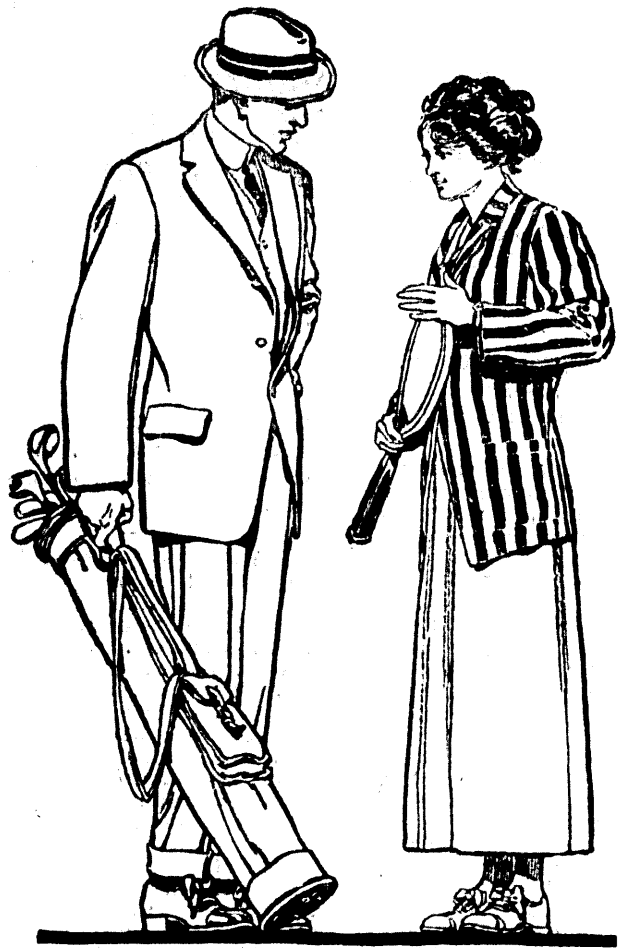

Walter Lomenax is a patient at Our Savior's hospital.

CORN CARNIVAL AND POULTRY SHOW

Morgan County Association Decides to Add New Feature to Annual Exhibit of Fine Poultry—Held Regular Meeting Tuesday.

At the regular meeting of the Morgan County Poultry association Tuesday night, it was decided to introduce a new feature for the annual poultry show, which will be held during the first week in December, and to conduct also a corn carnival. It will be remembered that the association hoped to be able to arrange with the farmers' institute to hold the two the same week and since it has been found that this will be impossible, the association has decided upon the other plan, which is indeed a good one and will no doubt add interest to the show. Cash prizes, at least three, will be offered on the two varieties—yellow and white. There will be one for boys under 18 and another for boys over that age. No entry fee is to be charged and the corn exhibited is to become the property of the association. The members of the association hope that this new feature can be made a success this year and if it proves so it will be extended another year.

There was a splendid attendance at the meeting Tuesday and considerable business was transacted. Judge Heimlich reported that the plant at Nichols park was about completed and that the committee would soon be ready for contributions of birds to be exhibited. Almost enough, however, have already been secured. The secretary, J. H. Rayhill, Jr., read a letter from Thomas McCoy of Springfield, asking that a representative be present at the state meeting. The membership committee reported that a number had paid their dues since the last meeting and hoped that all would attend to this matter at once.

The following resolutions were passed upon the death of Charles W. Brown, who was an active member of the association:

Whereas, the Morgan County Poultry association, in the death of Charles W. Brown, has lost an active and long time member, an able, willing and cheerful worker in all that tended to increase the quality and quantity of pure bred poultry in Morgan county, and

Whereas, we as members of the association, keenly feel the loss of a good and true friend, therefore be it Resolved, That we as members and as an association take this method of expressing our deep sense of loss and our sympathy for the family of Mr. Brown; be it further Resolved, That a copy hereof be spread on the records of the association, and a copy be sent to the bereaved family.

Following the business session an experience meeting was held and about twenty of their success with spring hatchings. From the reports given, the poultry supply throughout the county this spring will be about fifty per cent. what it should be.

HEARINGS PUBLIC.

Chicago, May 28.—Ormsby McHarg today sent a telegram to Senator Dickson, head of the Roosevelt forces in Washington, asking him to seek to have the contest hearings open to newspaper men instead of being decided in executive sessions. Chairman Upham of the Chicago convention committee said that $130,000 had been collected and that he expected to be able to refund at least 10 per cent of the subscriptions after the close of the convention. Contests on the district delegates and the delegates at large from the state of Washington were resolved by the secretary of the national committee.

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord.
He is tramping out the vintage, where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the fateful lightning of his terrible swift sword.
His truth is marching on."

In the beauty of the hills, Christ was born across the sea,
With a glory in his bosom that transfigures you and me,
As he died to make men free,
While God is marching on."

CORN CARNIVAL AND POULTRY SHOW

Morgan County Association Decides to Add New Feature to Annual Exhibit of Fine Poultry—Held Regular Meeting Tuesday.

At the regular meeting of the Morgan County Poultry association Tuesday night, it was decided to introduce a new feature for the annual poultry show, which will be held during the first week in December, and to conduct also a corn carnival. It will be remembered that the association hoped to be able to arrange with the farmers' institute to hold the two the same week and since it has been found that this will be impossible, the association has decided upon the other plan, which is indeed a good one and will no doubt add interest to the show. Cash prizes, at least three, will be offered on the two varieties—yellow and white. There will be one for boys under 18 and another for boys over that age. No entry fee is to be charged and the corn exhibited is to become the property of the association. The members of the association hope that this new feature can be made a success this year and if it proves so it will be extended another year.

There was a splendid attendance at the meeting Tuesday and considerable business was transacted. Judge Helmlich reported that the plant at Nichols park was about completed and that the committee would soon be ready for contributions of birds to be exhibited. Almost enough, however, have already been secured. The secretary, J. H. Rayhill, Jr., read a letter from Thomas McCoy of Springfield, asking that a representative be present at the state meeting. The membership committee reported that a number had paid their dues since the last meeting and hoped that all would attend to the matter at once.

The following resolutions were passed upon the death of Charles W. Brown, who was an active member of the association:

Whereas, the Morgan County Poultry association, in the death of Charles W. Brown, has lost an active and long time member, an able, willing and cheerful worker in all that tended to increase the quality and quantity of pure bred poultry in Morgan county, and

Whereas, the members of the association, keenly feel the loss of a good and true friend, therefore be it Resolved, That we as members and as an association take this method of expressing our deep sense of loss and our sympathy for the family of Mr. Brown; be it further Resolved, That a copy hereof be spread on the records of the association, and a copy be sent to the bereaved family.

Following the business session an experience race was held, and about twenty took their success with spring hatchings. From the reports given, the poultry supply throughout the county this spring will be about fifty per cent. what it should be.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers, which were cared for by Mrs. Addie Davis, Mrs. Thomas and Miss Julia Thomas. Those who assisted in the singing were Misses Mary Ray, Mary Farris, Bessie Ray and Capita Graham and Messrs. Clark Markley and Earl Strode. Those accompanying the remains from this city were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cully, Samuel Foutch, Mrs. C. H. Thomas and Mrs. James Foutch.

SAVES PRODUCERS MILLIONS YEARLY

Hon. A. P. Grout Tells Grain Dealers Association How to Save Four Times This Amount Yearly On One Kind of Crop.

The Farmers' Grain Dealers' association of Illinois has, for many years been doing a great co-operation work, but this co-operation has largely concerned the saving of money and the principal problems that have been presented to the annual conventions for discussion have been "Co-operation," "Inspection of Grain," "Reciprocal Demurrage," etc., and it remained for Hon. A. P. Grout, farmer, banker and grain dealer, to present, in a recent address before the association, a problem of vastly greater importance. Following are a few high points from his address:

Smaller Crop Yields.

"It is a matter of common observation that there is a gradual lessening of crop yields even on the once rich prairies of Illinois, and there is no gainsaying the conviction that the continuous growing of crops on the same land has brought about this result, on unfertilized land.

"It has been well said that 'crops are not made of nothing,' and it is evident that the grain growers of Illinois are confronted by a condition which involves questions and problems other than the co-operation and erection of elevators.

An Unfavorable Comparison.

"We have learned from those who have visited other countries, from results obtained by progressive farmers in many parts of the state, that as a whole we are only half way farming in Illinois and producing less than one-half the possible crop yields. From the report of the ten years' average yield per acre in some European countries compared with the yields in this country for the same time we have the following:

Yields Bushels Per Acre.

	European	American
Wheat	35.1	12.5
Barley	35.1	25.1
Oats	35.9	29.6
Potatoes	212.8	84.4

"The increased yield of European crops over American must find its explanation in better methods of agriculture which prevail among European farmers—methods which include the wise use of fertilizers, and this organization might well make public recognition of the situation, and advocate the immediate adoption of the methods employed in producing the present yields that are gradually but surely depleting the soil of its fertility and are responsible for the smaller yields and decreased returns.

The Million Dollars Saved.

"It is claimed by this association, and no doubt with good reason, that the farmers of this state are now receiving three cents more for their grain than they would receive if there were no farmers' elevator companies. It is asserted that Illinois markets about 300,000,000 bushels of grain annually, which at three cents per bushel, makes the enormous sum of $9,000,000 saved to the farmers of Illinois. This is certainly this matter a little far.

Single Crop Increases $34,357,000.

"The average yield of wheat for this state is 17 bushels, and the price is 96 cents, but for the purpose of illustrating we will say it is 20 bushels and the price is 90 cents, which would make the value of the acre of wheat $18. To this we may add 60 cents (20 bushels at 3 cents a bushel equals 60 cents) on account of co-operation.

"Now by reason of restored fertility and better cultivation we may increase the wheat yield to 35 bushels per acre, the average yield of some European countries for the past ten years, and we have at 90 cents per bushel, $31.50 as the value of one acre, or $13.50 for the additional 15 bushels. The account seems to stand in this way: For improved soil conditions and cultivation $13.50, and for co-operation and farmers' elevators 60 cents, or in the ratio of 22 to 1.

"The increase in yield of one bushel per acre of wheat at 90 cents per bushel is worth one-third more than the increased price obtained for one acre by reason of co-operation, or in other words, it only takes an increase in yield of two-thirds of a bushel to balance the account.

"If we take these figures for one acre and multiply them by 40 we have $150 as the gain on 40 acres by reason of better farming, and $24 for co-operation; and still it is the same ratio of 22 to 1; and if we take the number of acres sown to wheat in Illinois in the fall of 1911, 2,547,000—and multiply them by $13.50 the value of the increase for one acre by reason of more scientific farming, we have the enormous sum of $34,357,000 as the increased value of winter wheat alone, in Illinois for one year, nearly four times the amount saved in handling all the grain in Illinois for one year.

Must Develop Basic Industry.

"We have called attention to these figures only for the purpose of emphasizing a matter of first importance and do not wish by this comparison to indicate that the value of co-operation should be neglected, for while there are great advantages and large profits in the co-operative plan, there is far more in scientific farming which this association should earnestly encourage and promote. Farming is now a business founded upon accurate and reliable knowledge derived from long study, careful observation, investigations and experiments. This association can perform no greater service to the farmers of Illinois or add more to the wealth and prosperity of the state than by propagation of this now available and abundant information. If we should improve the business of grain dealing and add most to the income of the farmers, we must develop the industry upon which it depends—that which is of first importance."

NOWADAYS very few of us are called on to die for our country, or for any great cause. The main thing is—Do we live for it? Sometimes it's really a greater achievement to live for a thing than to die for it.

Now, you may think this talk and this patriotic anniversary of Decoration Day has nothing to do with the clothing business. But the big idea back of this celebration is the big idea that you ought to be back of everything we do. The man who serves his community and his fellowmen by doing, as well as he can, something that needs to be done, may be, in a true sense, "living" for his community and for his fellows.

One thing that needs to be done, is to make good clothes, and sell them fairly.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

make good clothes as well as it can be done; and we're trying to sell them in the same way. It's a service; we want to think of it, and have you think of it, as a service; a useful work.

We'll both profit by looking at it so.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES HELD

Seniors of High School Gave Interesting Program Tuesday Night.

The annual class day exercises of the senior class of the High school were held Tuesday evening in the High school auditorium in the presence of a large audience.

An excellent program was given and a great deal of merriment was afforded by the presentation to the seniors, which was made by Miss Mattie Clampt and Tracy Alexander. At the class day exercises last year the junior were presented with a large wooden spoon, which was made in the manual training department of the school, instead of the mantle and this year the spoon was presented to the junior class. The spoon bears the date 1911 in the bowl, and on the handle 1912, the colors of the two classes being attached. This presentation was made by Miss Cynthia Reick and the response by Miss Frances Hubble.

After the presentation to the seniors, Everett Weeks, the class president, gave Miss Sophronia Kent, the class officer, a handsome traveling bag the gift of the seniors.

Following the program the domestic science and the manual training departments of the school were visited. In the domestic science department there was on display a large number of articles made by the girls during the year and it represented some excellent work in sewing. The manual training exhibits, which consisted of porch swings, library tables, a miniature house and other articles made in this department, were exhibited in the main hall.

The program follows:

President's Address—Everett Weeks.

MOTHERS TO ORGANIZE.

Club to Be Formed As Outgrowth of Harriman Affair.

Springfield, May 28.—Indignant over the refusal of the school board to accept the report of the high school committee and the failure of E. H. Harriman, a member of the faculty, to resign, mothers of the city today are discussing the organization of a high school mothers' club. The purpose of the organization is to work in conjunction with the teachers at the school, training a better idea of the work done and protecting the moral tone of the institution.

Principal Frank Thomson is greatly in favor of such an organization and has been urging it for the last year. A special called meeting of the mothers' clubs of the city will be held at 4 p. m. next Monday afternoon in the high school auditorium. Officers will be elected and a permanent organization effected.

No Verdict Had Been Reached in Johnston Case at 2 O'clock This Morning.

In the circuit court Tuesday, before Judge Thompson, the taking of testimony in the E. P. Johnston proceedings was concluded, the argument was made, the instructions given and the case was given to the jury at 6 o'clock. At 2 o'clock this morning the lights in jury room were still burning brightly and no agreement had been reached. Judge Thompson left instructions to keep the jurors at the task of trying to agree until court convenes this morning.

Judge Layman and Judge Barnes presented arguments on behalf of Mr. Johnston and State's Attorney Tilton and City Attorney Hargrove made the argument for the prosecution.

FUNERAL SERVICE

Final Ceremonies in Honor of the memory of Charles W. Brown.

Seldom if ever in the history of Jacksonville has a calamity happened which so completely stunned every one, almost, in the place as the awful tragedy which ended the life of Charles W. Brown. Ruthlessly stricken down in the very prime of life with a long and useful career before him; a man of wonderful intellect and remarkable and varied attainments; he was useful in every walk in life and was almost prodigal of his abilities readily giving valuable aid and advice to all who applied to him.

The city is in mourning and hearts are saddened as seldom is the case under any circumstances. Had the funeral been conducted in the largest building in the city it would have been packed. The day for the sad event rose rather forbidding and a few drops of rain fell but the clouds dispersed and the sun shone. The home on Webster avenue was the place from which Mr. Brown had said he wanted to be laid away and his desire was gratified.

Mayor Davis and the remaining commissioners were present; all the city employees who could leave their posts of duty; a large number of the Knights of Pythias, the only secret order to which Mr. Brown belonged; a large delegation of the business men's association of which he was a valued member; a host of friends and neighbors and many who had known and esteemed Mr. Brown in life.

Of the family Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay of Hamilton, F. A. Brown of Chicago and Miss Kate Darling of Godfrey. Springfield sent Commissioner Frank L. Hamilton and City Engineer Wade Secor as wardens; Chief of Police Low Pilger, City Clerk Robert Moseland, Judge Sanders of the city court, William Knittemberg, Guy Sham, manager of the Coal Creek drainage district of Cass county, James Wells a drainage contractor of Pittsfield and F. W. Roegge and son, Mercedosa.

The casket was covered with a profusion of flowers and they were banded up all about the casket one so lately moving in our midst. Many persons said they could not realize that we should no more see the form of the one so dearly esteemed and tears without number were shed.

At the appointed hour Rev. H. H. Mitchell, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, advanced to the side of the casket and read the burial service of the church in an impressive manner and the words of the Master as He was met by the weeping sister Lazarus and the stirring expressions of the great apostle all were indicative of the hope that animated the hearts of weeping friends.

Mrs. William Barr Brown, Jr., then sang in a sympathetic manner a song entitled "Beautiful Island of Somewhere" after which Rev. L. H. Davis, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, offered a fervent and sympathetic prayer and the exercises were at an end.

Two vehicles were loaded with the flowers and then a long line of carriages formed for the sad journey to Diamond Grove cemetery.

The active bearers were Hon. Thomas Worthington, Messrs. E. E. Crabtree, H. H. Bancroft, Walter Ayers, W. E. Veitch and William Barr Brown, Jr. The city officials visiting delegations also were in line and a large concourse of vehicles escorted the hearse and family to Diamond Grove. The Knights of Pythias acted as an especial escort filling two large caravans.

At the grave Rev. L. H. Davis conducted the services and offered a prayer full of sympathy and tenderness and pronounced a benediction on all present.

The grave was completely hidden by flowers. These were tenderly cared for by Mrs. E. P. Kirby, Mrs. J. O. Reynolds, Mrs. H. M. Havenhill, Mrs. William B. Brown, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Walter Ayers and Mrs. Harry Hall.

In addition to many wreaths and cut flowers from a host of individual friends the following emblems and special offerings were noted:

The city council, a large spray of carnations which covered the casket. Police and fire department and city engineer, large spray of roses and carnations.

Water department, large basket of carnations.

Street department, a wreath. Travelers' Protective association, large button of flowers.

Knights of Pythias, emblem of the order.

Indian Creek drainage district commissioners and land owners, large spray of carnations.

Business Men's association, star and crescent.

The forces in Mr. Brown's office, wreath of Killarney roses.

Friends in Chicago, large spray of carnations and roses.

All that could be done was accomplished to show respect to the memory of one so widely known and esteemed and sadly the funeral procession returned to the city.

Only 50 Women Can Join The Hoosier Cabinet Club for $1.00

After you study the above picture you will not wonder that women are anxious to join the Hoosier club, when by so doing they have a Hoosier Cabinet delivered to their homes on payment of only $1.00.

Think of the hundreds of needless steps every woman you know could save by having her table, pantry and cupboard, with all her tools and supplies centered in one spot.

Your energy instead of being wasted is saved and the time spent in your kitchen—the least pleasant part of your work—is reduced by one-half the moment this famous Hoosier Cabinet comes into your home.

The Hoosier company sends its 3,000 agents a limited number of Hoosier Cabinets each year to be sold under direct supervision of the factory on the famous Hoosier Club Plan.

This year most cities received only 25 cabinets. Our urgent request secured us 50 of these cabinets for the ladies of Jacksonville.

Only 50 women, therefore, can join the club and have a Hoosier Cabinet delivered immediately on payment of $1.00; balance in a few weekly payments of $1.00. Many already have enrolled.

The Club Plan differs radically from the installment plan which often is linked with high prices and unknown goods. The low price of the Hoosier Cabinet is fixed everywhere by the factory. No Hoosier agent can sell for less or more on any terms.

So club members get a great benefit from the liberal club terms. The club probably will be filled very quickly. Those who wait Hoosier Cabinets should enroll their names at once.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

Business Men's Association Pays Tribute to Memory of C. W. Brown.

A special meeting of the directors of the Jacksonville Business Men's association was held Tuesday afternoon with President William Newman presiding. The following resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote:

"We are again called upon to mourn the loss of one of the members and officers of our association, Charles W. Brown had been an active member and officer of the association since its re-organization. He was regarded as one of its most valued members, being more familiar with a greater variety of subjects, touching the business interests of the city than any of its members. His advice and counsel were always looked to on all questions touching development of the city and its interests, and in his untimely death the business interest of the city of Jacksonville has suffered a great loss."

"We deplore the manner of his untimely death and most keenly feel the loss of his presence, counsel and advice in this association. To his family and relatives we extend our most sincere sympathy and regret, and the president and secretary of this association are directed to engrave this memorial at large upon its records and transmit a copy thereof to the bereaved family."

SMALL HURRICANE.

Mr. Sterling Experiences Heavy Wind Damage to Property.

Mr. Sterling, May 28.—A wind storm struck the southeast portion of Mr. Sterling yesterday evening, at 8 o'clock, doing considerable damage to property in that locality. It seemed to be a small cyclone, lasting only half a minute, but when the puff was over it showed considerable damage. Smoke stacks at the mill and light plant were both torn down, leaving the town dark; telephones were knocked out and streets made impassable by fallen trees and limbs.

SUSTAINED BROKEN RUB.

Chicago, May 28.—Paul Studebaker, a Russian aviator, sustained a broken rib and minor injuries today when his monoplane fell about fifty feet on the Cicero aviation field. The accident was caused by his attempt to make "right turn" which is regarded by aviators as a dangerous undertaking. He was thrown clear of the machine, which was badly damaged.

GOOD WOMAN GONE

Mrs. George Hardwick of Merritt Answers Final Summons at Passavant Hospital.

Mrs. George Hardwick of Merritt died at 6:35 o'clock Tuesday evening at Passavant hospital, at the age of 42 years. About three weeks ago she was taken sick with la grippe and then other complications set in. She was brought to the hospital in this city about two weeks ago and underwent two operations. All that medical aid could do was done but to no avail and she passed away at the hour above stated. Mrs. Hardwick was a woman held in the highest esteem and the news of her death will be received with great sadness.

Emmaline Richardson, daughter of Peter D. and Anna Richardson, was born October 18, 1870, near Point church. She belonged to one of the best known and most highly respected families of this county. Her grandparents on both father's and mother's sides being among the very earliest settlers. Practically all her life has been spent in this and Scott county. On February 27, 1896, she was united in marriage with George Hardwick, who survives her. The sixteen years of wedded life have been exceedingly happy ones and the husband in his bereavement has the sincere sympathy of a host of friends, who themselves will feel the loss as Mrs. Hardwick by her sweet Christian influence left a deep impression upon all with whom she came in contact and especially upon those whom she associated more intimately.

The deceased was a member of the Merritt M. E. church and was ever faithful in the performance of her vows to her church and to her God.

Beside the husband, Mrs. Hardwick is survived by her mother, Mrs. Anna Richardson of this city; two brothers, William G. and Henry H. Richardson of the Point, and two sisters, Mrs. William Simpkins of Bellevue and Mrs. Prince Coates of Lynville. Her father, Peter D. Richardson and three brothers, Leslie, Ernest and Edward, preceded her in death.

The remains were removed to Gillham's undertaking parlors and will be taken this morning to the home of a brother, Henry H. Richardson, west of the city, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Burial will be in Diamond Grove cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Simpkins of Bellevue will arrive today to be present at the funeral.

Jacksonville lodge No. 570, A. F. & A. M., will hold special meeting tonight at 7:30 for work. Visiting brethren welcome. C. C. Phelps, W. M.

CARE OF EPILEPTICS.

Chicago, May 28.—Failure of the state to care for its epileptics was designated as dangerous and neglectful by A. L. Bowen, secretary of the Illinois Charities commission today in an address before the Illinois Mayor's association.

"At the present time we have about 20,000 epileptics in the state," said Mr. Bowen. "We take care of about 1,000 of them. It is a disgrace to the state that she does not care for those diseased ones. Illinois is shutting her eyes to one of the gravest dangers that can befall her."

"But better still than trying to prepare to take care of all those that have become epileptics, we should try to stop the disease." Mr. Bowen then urged the establishment of an industrial school for epileptics who had a chance to improve. There are many, he said, who should be given a chance to acquire education.

The mayors were guests at James A. Patton at luncheon. About fifty attended the opening session.

FIRE CAUSED GREAT LOSS

Administration Building at Michigan School For Deaf Totally Destroyed.

A recent issue of the Daily Journal of Flint, Michigan, containing an account of the fire which destroyed the Michigan state school for the deaf at that place, has been received at The Journal office. Brief mention of the fire was made in the Journal at the time it occurred and a few facts taken from the Flint paper are given herewith:

Fire which was started by a series of lightning bolts which struck the Michigan school for the deaf about 10:30 o'clock, swept the administration building from end to end, destroyed the old east and west wings and left the walls standing enclosing heaps of debris. The loss will total $400,000 and the state carries no insurance on its property.

The fire was discovered at 1:45 in the morning by the nightwatchman, who after turning in the fire alarm, ran down the halls toward the dormitories in the east and west wings crying "fire" and they instantly rushed to the hall ways and formed into orderly lines to be marched quickly from the structure to places of safety. There was no panic among the students even though the glare of the flames lighted up the rear part of the building where they were. They were first marched to the residence of the superintendent and later the smaller ones were taken to Brown hall where they were put to rest on improvised beds. Dr. Clarke, head of the institution, led the work of rescue and after all were said to be out of the building, he together with others went through every part of the building to see that none of the 250 children remained.

The firemen kept the flames confined to the administration building by valiant work and three of them were injured. Chief Price who received painful burns about the face and neck, and fireman Isaac Welch and Orel Parkhurst.

No attempt at further instruction at the school this semester will be made and the children are being sent home as rapidly as their parents are notified. Only three weeks of the present term remain and it is probable that arrangements will be made to continue the work next fall.

RAYNER PLEADS FOR FAITH REVIVAL

Maryland Senator Commenting on Titanic Disaster Points to Perils of the Times—Need For Greater Corporate Responsibility.

Washington, May 28.—Discussing the Titanic disaster in the senate today, Senator Rayner of Maryland denounced the United States admiralty and navigation laws as "an incongruous collection of antiquated statutes, which should be repealed and re-enacted so as to meet the necessities of ocean intercourse of the present day." Senator Rayner dwelt at length on the "lesson of religious faith" that the Titanic disaster should have taught and asserted that the country needs "severe lessons that will strengthen the pillars and altars of its faith."

On this point the senator said: "We are to a large extent today defying the ordinances of God, and the sooner we awaken to a realizing sense of our responsibility the better it will be for the spiritual elevation of the country. We are running mad with the lust of wealth, and of power, and of ambition. We are separating society into castes with fabulous fortunes upon the one side and destitution and poverty on the other. It takes a terrible warning to bring us back to our moorings and our senses. We are abandoning the devout and simple lives of our ancestors and the fabric of our firesides is weakening at the foundation. If this disaster teaches no lesson or points no moral then let us pass it by with stoical indifference, until the next disaster comes, and in the meantime let the carnival go on. May the heart rending scenes upon this night of anguish and of woe give us faith and lead us back to the altars of our fathers. I will not rehearse the agonies of this midnight sacrifice. I can not afford to dwell upon them or listen to the details that almost distract the mind and break the heart. It is the lesson and the moral that I am searching for."

Senator Rayner urged legislation that would make the controlling officers of corporations criminally responsible for the careless and negligent management of the corporation they control. After a discussion of the present methods of corporation organization Senator Rayner said:

"There is another lesson that this disaster teaches us and which ought to be one of general application, and that is the lesson of corporate responsibility. We must enact legislation that will make the controlling and supervising officers of corporations within our own jurisdiction criminally responsible for the careless and negligent management of the public service corporations which they control. I have made this suggestion over and over again, and I repeat again, that it is a shame and an outrage that the criminal statutes of this land to permit the men who are really responsible absolutely to escape from the penalties of the law, and inflict penalties and punishments upon those who are simply acting under their superior orders."

Discussing the causes of the disaster the senator said:

"It seems to be universally conceded that the ship was not equipped with a sufficient number of lifeboats to provide for the safety of its passengers. There may have been a sufficient number in accordance with the rule of the British Board of Trade, but it is a conceded fact that the great loss of life occurred because there was an insufficient number to meet the necessities of the case and rescue the passengers and crew."

The failure of foreign steamships to carry searchlights is utterly inexcusable, and if a proper searchlight had been upon this vessel, in my judgment, the accident could have been avoided. The failure to supply the proper officers with binoculars was unquestionably an act of negligence, especially as I gather from the testimony that a demand had been made by the proper officers for them, and the demand had been refused.

"There was not the proper attention paid to the wireless messages that the ship received. This appears to me to have been an inexcusable act of negligence."

"The speed of the vessel was not lowered, as it should have been, when notice was received that she was in a dangerous zone. My own judgment therefore is that there was negligence in this case and that the disaster was attributable to the want of due care upon the part of the company and of those in charge of the ship. The proper tribunals will determine upon this question unaffected by any conclusion that we may arrive at in the premises."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The camping list is almost complete and quite a large delegation of campers will represent Jacksonville at Lake Matanzas during the ten days, inclusive, June 5 to 15. Mr. Louis Recker of the association will be the recognized "boss" of the camp this year. His experience as an association man and camper has been wide and his knowledge of the boy thorough. With such a leader and many other assistants who are quite capable in their respective lines as subordinates this year's camp will undoubtedly be another enjoyable chapter of Y. M. C. A. camp life.

There will be an all-around swimming contest for championship held next Tuesday, June 4. Only Juniors and older boys will be entered in this contest. The events will be:

Dive for distance.
400-yard swim.
Plunge for distance.
150-yard swim.
150-yard swim.
150-yard swim.

Points will be awarded as follows: First, 5 points; second, 3 points; third, 1 point.

There are some splendid swimmers in these classes and some good work is looked for, despite the youthfulness of these fellows.

Since Physical Director H. A. Brewer was scout master for the Jacksonville Patrol of Scouts, it will be necessary for them to elect a new scout master. They will hold a meeting soon to decide that matter.

The intermediate class will hold a meeting Friday night, at which business of importance is to be transacted. All members are urged to be present. The Senators are also planning to extend their work in the association.

CRACKERS BEND.

According to previous announcement the Sunday school convention came off at Grace Chapel at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. A good house was present in spite of the threatening weather. Our precinct vice, Walter Houston, managed the affair in a systematic style. Our young people sang like professionals and the speakers did their best; enthusiasm was in the air and was catching. There was but one drawback or disappointment during the afternoon and that came in because we missed the Sunday school lesson through some mistake; the tardiness of our superintendent of unknown cause. Rev. J. G. Reed gave a mild report on this mishap and probably it will not occur again. This gathering also gave us a chance to show off the new piano just placed in the house a few days previous and that we have talent in the Bend equal to any emergency, for our young pianist, Miss Golden Louchard, did splendid work and proved to all by her efficient work that she was the right one to preside at the piano.

The convention was opened by a short, feeling prayer by Rev. J. G. Reed after the first song. S. W. Nichols was the first speaker. He was put up without a topic and therefore had the privilege of rambling all over the field, but he did not. He gave a very interesting talk on the difference of conditions in a land of Bibles and a land where the Bible is not honored. In other words the great advantage of the people living in our prosperous, happy land of free speech, free schools, Bibles and churches, over the people who live in the countries where the Bible is not among the masses. Mr. Nichols got warmed up and rebuked those people who are tardy in supporting Sunday schools and churches in their neighborhood. He said such people were shirks and that they were shaming off their neighbors, and we believe every word he said. Mr. Nichols finished up with a story for the boys, about a solo by Miss Edna Ogle. S. W. Crum was called up. Mr. Crum responded, giving quite a handsome tribute to the improvements lately made at the chapel and about the time every one in the audience thought he was going to launch out into one of his mighty orations he dropped into his seat like a sack of sand. President Swain looked at Mr. Crum out of the corner of his eye and we read the look to say: "Never mind, old fellow, I'll attend to you later."

After another song the chairman called President Swain. Mr. Swain is always in dead earnest; we never knew of him fooling away a minute. So his talk was one of real worth, full of convincing facts and uplifting ideas. His topic was Encouragement. After Mr. Swain Miss Darrell Crum of Litterberry presided at the piano and the congregation sang that beautiful song, "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?" Mrs. Crum played the music with the variations, which brought the full tone of the new piano out in the most convincing proof. After the song Mrs. Crum was asked to favor the audience with instrumental music, which she did in a most exquisite manner, receiving a round of applause for her kindness.

Rev. J. G. Reed spoke after this and made a good showing, as usual. Mr. Reed did not feel like launching out into deep water, as the time was growing short and he is one of those preachers who have a good deal of sympathy for a tired audience.

A duet by the Misses Golden and Marie Louchard, Miss Anna Ogle presiding at the piano, finished the convention with the exception of the collection and an invitation from S. W. Crum to attend the Morgan County Sunday school convention at Litterberry on the 29th and 30th of August, 1912.

There has been a great deal of joy displayed by people of the Bend on the occurrence of the visits of Mr. Stark. The long-learned gentleman has quite a number of good friends in the Bend and he is continually showing his friendship by bringing presents. Last Monday night he visited the home of Macer Donald Houston on Persimmon avenue and left him one of the sweetest baby pony colts ever seen in the Bend. Donald has christened the new member Blossom. Proud? Well, we guess yes. The first sight made him feel as if Taff's overcoat would hardly make him a jacket. Mother and baby doing nicely.

Motherhood

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ill and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

FIXES BLAME FOR TITANIC DISASTER

SENATE COMMITTEE SAYS CAPT. SMITH WAS HEEDLESS.

Loss of Life Largely Chargeable to Captain of Californian, Who Disregarded Distress Signals—Laxity of British Board of Trade Regulations Shown.

Washington, May 28.—(Blame for the Titanic disaster is chargeable to the laxity of the British Board of Trade regulations, and to the heedless attitude of Captain Lord of the Californian, who disregarded distress signals, according to a report of the Senate Committee which investigated the sinking of the Titanic, as prepared in a comprehensive report delivered by William Allen Smith, of Michigan, chairman of the committee.

Senator Smith declared that responsibility also rests upon the British Board of Trade, "to whose laxity of regulation, and hasty inspection, the world is largely indebted for the awful tragedy."

In denouncing Captain Lord, of the Californian, the senator said the Titanic's distress signals were plainly seen from the deck of his vessel a short distance away.

America will leave to England the chastisement of those guilty asserted the senator, and he quoted British law to show that Captain Lord might be prosecuted for a misdemeanor.

Other conclusions presented, in brief, were as follows:

Before the Titanic departed on her maiden voyage there were no sufficient tests of boilers, bulkheads, equipment or signal devices.

Officers and crew were strangers to each other and not familiar with the ships implements or tools, and no drill or station practice took place and no helpful discipline prevailed.

Did Not Lessen Speed. The speed of the Titanic was 24 1/2 miles an hour at the time of the accident, although officers of the Titanic had been advised of the presence of icebergs by the steamships Baltic, America, and Californian.

Passengers were not advised of danger, although President Ismay of the White Star Line, who was taking the vessel's maiden voyage, was informed. No general alarm was given nor any organized system of safety undertaken.

Of the 1,324 passengers and 899 members of crew on board, there was room in the lifeboats for only 1,176 persons and because of lack of orderly discipline the boats took off only 704 persons, 12 being rescued from the water.

Officers of the White Star Line "battled with the truth" after receiving information from their Montreal office Monday morning following the accident.

Senator Smith condemned "antiquated shipping laws and obsolete administrative boards" and asked that all nations act together in shipping reforms. "New laws," he said, "will best testify our affection for the dead."

Captain Rostron of the rescue ship Carthage was praised by Senator Smith and he urged that congress recognize his valor.

At the outset Senator Smith defended the course of his committee in holding British subjects to secure their testimony without delay, and briefly answered criticism of his lack of nautical knowledge.

Desired Simple Facts. "Our course was simple and plain—to gather the facts relating to this disaster while they were still vivid realities," he said. "Questions of diverse citizenship gave way to the universal desire for the simple truth. It was of paramount importance that we should act quickly to avoid jurisdictional confusion and organized opposition at home or abroad. We, of course, recognized that the ship was under a foreign flag; but the lives of many of our countrymen had been sacrificed and the safety of many had been put in grave peril, and it was vital that the entire matter should be reviewed before an American tribunal if legislative action was to be taken for future guidance."

"Without any pretension to expertise or special knowledge of nautical affairs, nevertheless I am of the opinion that very few important facts which were susceptible of being known escaped our scrutiny. Energy is often more desirable than learning, and the inquiry serves a useful purpose to the state."

"In the construction of the Titanic," continued the senator, "no limit of cost circumscribed their endeavor and when this vessel took its place at the head of the line every modern improvement in shipbuilding was grafted to have been realized; so confident were they that both owner and builder were eager to go upon the trial trip."

"When the crisis came a state of absolute unpreparedness stupefied both passengers and crew and, in their despair, the ship went down, carrying as needless a sacrifice of noble women and brave men as ever clustered about the judgment seat in any sin-le moment of passing time."

Blames British Board. "We shall have to the honest judgment of England its galling chastisement of the British board of trade, to whose laxity of regulation and hasty inspection the world is largely indebted for this awful tragedy. Some of the men who were there many in the face of warning signals, speed was increased and messages of danger seemed to stimulate her to a thin rather than to persuade her to fear."

"The Titanic rushed onward on her true course—one recognized as a proper and agreed upon by mariners as the international highway for west bound vessels get dangerous at this season of the year, when the Labrador current may be bearing vast masses of ice across the track of ships—scores of these towering glaciers planted themselves in the very pathway of this ship and were so large and so numerous that, in the absence of fog, they should have been easily discernible by the lookout. If, as he says in his testimony he had been supplied with glasses.

"Captain Smith knew the sea and his clear and steady hand had often guided his ship through dangerous paths; for 40 years storms sought in vain to vex him or menace his craft. His indifference to danger was one of the direct and contributing causes of this unnecessary tragedy, while his own willingness to die was the explaining evidence of his fitness to live; those of us who knew him well—not in anger, but in sorrow—fit one such charge against him, overconfidence and carelessness of the oft repeated warnings of his friends, but, in this horrible dismay, when his brain was affric with honest retribution, we can still see, in his manly bearing and his tender solicitude for the safety of women and children, some traces of his lofty spirit."

Captain Indifferent to Danger. "The mystery of his indifference to danger, when other and less pretentious vessels doubled their lookout or stopped their engines, finds no reasonable hypothesis in conjecture or speculation; science in shipbuilding was supposed to have attained perfection and to have spoken her last word; mastery of the ocean had at last been achieved; but overconfidence seems to have dulled the faculties usually so alert. With the atmosphere literally charged with warning signals and wireless messages registering their last appeal, the stokers in the engine room fed their fires with fresh fuel, registering in that dangerous race her fastest speed."

"Nature gave warning of approaching peril so significant that passengers in stateroom and steerage shut out the chill and spoke to one another of the sudden cold. Sailors off the G and Banks knew the danger of the thermometer, which is almost as necessary to their safety as is the compass. Even the quarter-master, Hitchens, who regularly took the temperature of the water from the sea, said: 'It suddenly became bitter cold' and added that the first order received by him from Second Officer Lightoller at 8 o'clock Sunday evening was 'to take his compass to the ship's carpenter and inform him to back to his fresh water, that it was about to freeze.'"

Senator Smith declared that the command of the officers of the watch to avert the disaster actually exposed the most vulnerable part of the Titanic to the ice when the shock came.

"Disturbed by the sudden appearance of danger," said the speaker, he sharply turned aside the prow, the part best exposed to resist collision, exposing the temple to the blow; at the turn of the helix the steel encasement yielded to a glancing blow so slight that the impact was not felt in many parts of the ship, although representing an energy of more than a million foot tons, said to be the equivalent of the combined broadsides of 20 of the largest guns of our battleship fleet fired at the same moment, with a blow so deadly that many of the passengers and crew did not even know of the collision until tardily advised of the danger by anxious friends, and even then official statements were clothed in such confident assurances of safety as to arouse no fear."

Comments on Officers Conduct. Senator Smith said that the awful force of the impact must have indicated to master and builder that the ship was doomed. He commented caustically upon the failure of the ship's officers immediately to give general alarm or to establish some orderly routine. Concerning the conduct of the ship's officers he said:

"Haphazard they rushed by one another on staircase and in hallway while men of self control gathered here and there about the decks, helplessly staring at one another or giving encouragement to those who were courageous than themselves. Lifeboats were finally adjusted to all and the lifeboats were cleared away and although strangely insufficient in number, were only partially loaded and in all instances unprovided with compasses and only three of them had lamps. They were manned so badly that, in the absence of prompt relief, they would have fallen easy prey to the advancing ice flow, nearly 20 miles in width and rising 15 feet above the surface of the water. Their danger would have been as great as if they had remained on the deck of the broken hull, and if the sea had risen these poor targets with over 700 exhausted people would have been helplessly tossed about upon the waves without food or water."

"One witness swore that two of the three stewards in their boat admitted that they had never had an oar in their hands before and did not even know what the oars were for. The lifeboats were fitted so indifferently and lowered so quickly that, according to the uncontradicted evidence, nearly 500 people were needlessly sacrificed to want of orderly discipline in loading the few that were provided. And yet it is said by some well meaning persons that the best of discipline prevailed. If this is discipline what would have been disorder?"

Able Men Silenced. "Among the passengers there are many strong men who had been accustomed to command, whose lives had marked every avenue of endeavor, and whose business experience and military training especially fitted them for such an emergency. These were rudely silenced and forbidden to speak, as was the president of this company, by junior officers, a few of whom, I regret to say availed themselves of this opportunity to leave the ship. Some of the men who had been entrusted the care of passengers, never reported to their official stations, and quickly deserted the ship with a recklessness and indifference to the responsibilities of their positions as culpable and amazing as it is impossible to believe. And some of these men say they 'laid by' in their partially filled lifeboats and listened to the cries of distress until the noise quieted down and survivors from a safe distance the unselfish men and women and faithful fellow officers and seamen, whose heroism lightens up this tragedy and recalls the noblest traditions of the sea."

Tributes to the valor of Phillips and Abrie, the wireless operators on the Titanic, were paid by Senator Smith. He said that the final exit of the Phillips boy was "not so swift as to prevent him from pausing long enough to pass a cup of water to a fainting woman." The senator showed that had not the underpaid wireless operator on the Carpathia prepared for bed with his receiver still on his head the Titanic's distress signals never would have been received by the rescue ship.

"When the world weeps together over a common loss," said Senator Smith, "all nations should take steps jointly to regulate wireless telegraphy by laws that operators are fairly paid." He condemned the "reluctant silence" concerning the details of the disaster. In condemning the failure of the Californian to learn all about the disaster before the Titanic sank and go to her rescue, Senator Smith said:

"The steamship Californian was within easy reach of this ship for nearly four hours after all the facts were known to Operator Cottam. The captain of the Carpathia says he gave explicit directions that all official messages should be immediately sent through other ships, and messages of passengers should be given preference. According to Binns, the inspector, the apparatus on the Californian was practically new and easily tuned to carry every detail of that calamity to the coast stations at Cape Sable and Cape Race, and should have done so."

Sent False Message. "The course taken was singularly in accord with the reticence of the officials of the White Star company, who knew at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning," said the senator, "what was supposed to have occurred and yet at 7:51 Monday evening a message from their office officially signed that the Californian was on its way to the rescue, a positive assurance of the safety of the passengers was sent to a half crazed father at Huntington, W. Va., nearly two hours after their admitted familiarity with the details of the disaster. It is little wonder that we have not been able to fix with definiteness the author of this falsehood."

Senator Smith reviewed the testimony of Captain Lord, showing that the Californian came within four miles of the doomed ship and that he went to his room to lie down while the signal rockets were being fired.

"Failure of Captain Lord to arouse the wireless operator on his ship, who easily could have ascertained the name of the vessel in distress and reached her in time to avert loss of life," said Senator Smith, "places a tremendous responsibility upon this officer from which it will be difficult for him to escape."

Lauds Carpathia Captain. "Contrast, if you will, the conduct of the captain of the Carpathia in this emergency and imagine what must be the consolation of that thoughtful and sympathetic mariner, who rescued the shipwrecked and left the people of the world his debtors as his ship sailed for distant seas a few days ago. By his utter self effacement and his own indifference to peril by his promptness and his knightly sympathy, he rendered great service to humanity. He should be made to realize the debt of gratitude this nation owes to him, while the book of good deeds, which had so often been familiar with his unaffected valor, would henceforth carry the name of Captain Rostron to the remotest period of time."

"The lessons of this hour," said Senator Smith in conclusion, "are indeed, fruitless and its precepts ill-conceived if rules of action do not follow hard upon the day of reckoning. Obsolete and antiquated shipping laws should no longer encumber the parliamentary records of any government, and obsolete administrative boards should be pruned of dead branches and less sterile precepts taught and applied."

Senator Smith recommended that lanes of travel should be more carefully defined, strength of ship's bows increased, life saving equipment bettered and discipline and practice made an exacting. He said buoys should be carried to mark temporarily the place of a ship's burial in case of accident; and men of strength and spirit there must be, none back to a calling already demoralized and decadent.

"But 10 per cent of the men before the mast in our merchant marine are natives or naturalized Americans," he said. "Even England, that 20 years ago had barely 7,000 Orientals on her merchant ships, now carries over 70,000 of that alien race. Americans must re-enlist in this service, they must become the soldiers of the sea, and, whether in the lookout, on the deck or at the wheel, whether able or common seamen, they should be better paid for their labor and more highly honored in their calling; their rights must be respected and their work carefully performed; harsh and severe restraining statutes must be repealed and a new dignity given this important field of labor."

DELIGHTFUL TIME AT COUNTRY HOME

Members of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R. Entertained at Home of Mrs. W. H. Hinrichsen.

Mrs. W. H. Hinrichsen and daughter Miss Annie were hostesses to members of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at their beautiful country home near Alexander Tuesday afternoon. Fifty ladies went from the city on the 8:28 Wabash and returned on the evening train. It was a royal welcome that Mrs. Hinrichsen and her daughter accorded the guests and all were charmed with the pretty home and its magnificent surroundings. At the noon hour a splendid collation was faultlessly served and after the meal a short business of the chapter was held and a wonderfully interesting and instructive paper was read by Mrs. Hehl, entitled "New Patriotism in America." Among the guests present were Mrs. Carroll Cambren of San Francisco, who was one of the delegates of the state of California to the meeting of the colonial dames which met recently in Washington, D. C.; Mrs. William H. Beck of Washington, D. C., wife of the late brigadier general and mother of Capt. Paul Beck of the U. S. A., and cousin of the late W. H. Hinrichsen, who is visiting here. Mrs. Beck was also heard in a very brilliant speech along the line of patriotism. Part of the afternoon was given over to a social time and it is needless to say that the ladies enjoyed every moment.

Mrs. Frank Hehl's address was in part as follows:

Mrs. Hehl's Address.
Chief among the blessings which this age has brought us are a broader attitude of mind, the recognition of new responsibilities, and a new interpretation of things old. In the light of this different attitude of mind, Christianity finds its most valuable expression in service, not dogma. We are losing our grasp of the non-essentials. Social service has become recognized as Christian service. Along with other things, we have come to read a new meaning into patriotism. For it has come to mean, not the response to the call for the sacrifice of life in time of war, but the spirit so imbued with love and devotion to country, that it would daily further the welfare and happiness of one's fellowman. "He, who thinks not of himself, primarily, but of his race, and of its future, is the new patriot."

It may seem to you that in interpreting my subject, "A New Patriotism" as conservation, I shall wander far from the path, but I take it that in its broadest sense conservation calls for the highest patriotism.

I do not claim for this paper originality, but I offer you what I have gleaned from a study of Pinchot and Van Hise, who are recognized as authorities on the subject.

Perhaps no subject has been more misunderstood than conservation. No idea can be more erroneous than the very generally accepted one that it means merely the husbanding of resources for future generations. This is its narrowest significance. Conservation stands primarily for the development of our natural resources so that the present generation shall fully use them. It stands for the prevention of waste. The prosperity of our nation to-day is directly due to its superb natural resources and conservation has brought to our attention this fact that we are but trustees of this wealth. And as trustees, we are to develop and preserve our resources not for the profit of a few, but for the benefit of all. This is a truth the whole meaning of which is just beginning to dawn upon us.

Conservation is essentially a patriotic movement. "The central thing for which it stands," says Mr. Pinchot, "is to make this country the best possible place to live in, both for us and for our descendants. It stands against the waste of the natural resources which cannot be renewed, such as coal and iron; it stands for the perpetuation of the resources which can be renewed, such as the food-producing soils and the forests, and most of all it stands for an equal opportunity for every American citizen to get his fair share of the benefit from these resources, both now and hereafter." It will be seen then that conservation is of primary importance from the economic standpoint. The law of business demands it. The law of self-preservation is higher than that of business and the duty of preserving a nation is still higher. Our ancestors founded the nation by their foresight and sacrifices. We have abused, wasted and destroyed the rich heritage thus bequeathed us until to-day our greatest danger is that our development and prosperity have been bought at the price of suffering and poverty for future generations. To repair the damage done, to preserve unimpaired the nation's natural resources, this the noblest task that confronts us to-day, calls for the loftiest spirit of patriotism.

The speaker then pointed out that America has been boundlessly favored with fine materials essential to civilization, wood, water, coal, iron and agricultural products and has been wasteful of them. The question of the conservation of the soil was considered at some length.

A prosperous agriculture is to a nation or a community what good digestion is to a man. When we reflect that the soil is the only resource which renews itself while producing value, we realize the importance of conserving it. Nor is it belittling the importance of manufactures, commerce and the activities centered in cities to say that all are founded on the agricultural growth of the nation. Therefore every good citizen is interested in maintaining the growth and development of such resources.

James J. Hill says, "that when we have as many people to the square mile as Europe now has, we

Here Is The Biggest Thing We Have Ever Undertaken

The Surplus Summer Stock of Olian Bros., of St. Louis, known from coast to coast as designers and manufacturers of highest grade Wearing Apparel for Women and Girls. Every year this concern accumulates thousands of Suits, Coats, Dresses, Waists, etc. Some are stock numbers, meaning that the garments are made up—some are cancellations—some are drummers' samples—and others are house models.

At any rate there are thousands of garments made up of finest materials and styled after the newest fashions. We tried in vain last year to consummate a deal with them for their stock, but we were afraid that we could not sell so many thousands of garments, so they sold it to one of the department stores in St. Louis. But this year things are different. We have "shaken the cold out of our feet" and secured what we consider the best selected stock of Ladies' wear in America.

will know the economic troubles of Europe. Our task will be to increase the volume of the earth's products. It is made clear by every process of logic and the proof of historic fact that the wealth of a nation, the character of its people, the quality and permanence of its institutions are all dependent upon a sound and sufficient agricultural foundation. Not armies or navies or commerce or diversity of manufactures or anything other than the farm is the anchor which will hold through the storms of time that sweep all else away. Mr. Hill calls attention to the rapid increase in population in America and to the question of bread for future millions. He shows that for the five years, 1907-1908, the production of wheat in America increased 41 per cent and that during the same period the population increased 74 per cent. The home demand for bread increased 80 per cent faster than the supply. These and other figures he quotes lend probability to the suggestion that in another ten years, the United States will be a wheat importing nation. He says that in the matter of food stuffs we must provide for a contingency not distant from us by nearly a generation, but already present. The food condition presses upon us now. The shortage is here. As far as our food is concerned, the lean years have begun."

The writer discussed at length the findings of the Country Life Commission, the survey made by a Presbyterian church board and gave a resume of rural communities considered typical. Needs of such communities were pointed out and methods were suggested for accomplishing needs.

In concluding Mrs. Hehl said: "And what bearing, you may ask, does this have upon the subject of patriotism? I come back to my starting point, that there is a new meaning to patriotism, for the new patriotism is conservation. 'He who thinks not of himself primarily, but of his race, and of its future, is the new patriot.' Conservation means the 'greatest good to the greatest number'—and that for the longest time." To us at home the new patriotism spells better agriculture, better sanitary conditions, a broader and more satisfying social life, more attractive and more comfortable homes, a greater fellowship, better education, and to each man an opportunity to live a happy, contented and complete life."

MODERN AILMENT—SWEEPS COUNTRY
Delay is Always Fatal.
Nervous Debility Holds Countless Numbers in Its Grasp—Now Tonic Restores Energy and Ambition.

Every large city in the United States contains countless numbers of worn out, half sick men and women with poor appetites and bad digestions. They have no energy, little vitality and are despondent and nervous.

They have cold feet, sallow complexions and they say they are "run down."
The right name for the trouble is nervous debility and it is produced by the strain and hustle and worry of modern life.
Many think indigestion causes the half sick feeling which afflicts them and they take "something to digest their food." This is all wrong. It may afford temporary relief but the cause of their stomach trouble is the nervous, debilitated condition of the entire system and this must be overcome before the stomach will perform its functions properly.

Nervous debility is a modern ailment caused by city life. There is a modern tonic that overcomes this trouble like magic. It is called Tona Vita. If you are afflicted with nervous debility don't wait another day feeling miserable. Stop dosing your stomach. Get this great tonic and you will be astonished how quickly your strength and ambition will return and how your stomach trouble will disappear.

Tona Vita is sold on trial and must bring back your health or the price is refunded.
Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is the assistant remedy to Tona Vita and is used in cases of chronic constipation. There is nothing equal to rhubarb as a natural harmless laxative. Harsher drugs strain the intestines and leave them weak. Rhubarb acts as a tonic and gives them strength. Tona Vita and Lee's Rhubarb Laxative are sold in Jacksonville by Coover & Shreve. They are splendid modern medicines.

QUICK RELIEF FOR RHEUMATISM
George W. Koons, Lawton, Mich., says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful benefit for rheumatism. She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began the use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she got up, dressed herself and walked out for breakfast. Sold by L. P. Alcott, druggist."
